a online business: European Data Privacy Law and Online Business Christopher Kuner, 2003 EU data protection law is of great practical relevance for any company doing business in today's global information economy. This book provides a detailed and practical exposition of European data protection law in the context of the issues that arise in electronic commerce and dataprocessing. It analyses the relevant EU legislation and case-law, and makes particular reference to the EU Data Protection Directives as well as to the national regulatory systems in Europe and the US. Numerous examples are taken from practice, and advice is given on how the relevant data protection laws apply to and impact upon business in Europe, the US, and worldwide. Beginning with a detailed description of the legislative process, the book goes on to discuss the basic legal concepts underlying data protection law. It then focuses on how to determine whether EU law applies to particular electronic commerce and online activities, and how to transfer personal data outside Europe so as to comply with EU law. The book also includes a comprehensive analysis of how to deal with complex compliance challenges, including notification of databases, processing of employee data, privacy policies, and website compliance and standardization. The key legislative texts needed to deal with complex data protection issues are included in the appendices, along with forms and precedents, contact information for data protection authorities, and links to useful websites. The book is fully up-to-date with the amendments to the Telecommunications Data Protection Directive passed in the summer of 2002.

a online business: Creating an Online Business Plan RD king, Plan your success today by creating an online business plan! Your online business plan needs to make sure it addresses the management and administration structure – in other words your organization's breakdown. Online businesses often have a simpler organization structure than a traditional business, but that's not always the case, and it must be clearly defined. You will need to cover the management structure and ownership of your business. It's okay if one person fills a number of roles. Online businesses that are starting up often don't have more than one or two people running the whole business. During the startup period, the owner is not going to be receiving a paycheck or any benefits. Initially owner salaries are going to be figured out based on the profitability of the company but they should never be more than fifty percent of the profit of the business. If the company is limited, there will be the distribution of shares among the owners. That could be one person, two people or more, but the breakdown needs to be included in the business plan so potential investors know and understand the business structure. You will also need to include the managerial style that you plan to use. This should be broken out so that not just investors but business owners can stay on track and later compare.
