games for a summer evening: Street Games Richard M. Abrams, 2012-11-29 RICHARD M. ABRAMS, a retired U.C. Berkeley professor of modern U.S. history, recreates the many games, some of them now all-but extinct, played in the city streets daily by boys and girls during the turbulent era of the Great Depression, the Second World War, and the increasingly prosperous post-war environment. Abrams was born in Brooklyn in 1932 when cramped urban living quarters were commonplace, and limited income constricted access to organized sports venues and equipment. His was an outdoor generation forced to depend on inventive use of scarce resources. From many conversations over the years with his children, colleagues, friends, and students, he came to realize how few people today have any idea of the kinds of recreation that filled daily life for young city people in the years of his own youth. Street Games is a combination of Abrams's reminiscences of the games he played and his placement of those activities in the social history of the period, often highlighting its contrast with the world we know today. The work is compelling, informative, and fast-paced in its description of a mostly lost piece of history. It is also fascinating for its speculations about such things as the hidden meaning of It in games of tag, the small regard for safety (helmets? face masks? seat belts?), and the complex character of racism and ethnic tensions in those times. One reader of the manuscript remarked, "I have not read in many years anything that gave me so much pure, sustained pleasure." RICHARD M. ABRAMS was educated in the public schools of Brooklyn. He earned his BA, MA, and Ph.D. degrees at Columbia University. He began his teaching career at Columbia in 1957. He moved to the University of California in Berkeley in 1961, where he taught until retiring in 2007. He is married to Marcia Ash Abrams, and they have three children and four grandchildren. He has been a visiting professor of history in London, Moscow, Beijing, and Innsbruck, and has lectured widely in Europe and Asia. His other books include: Conservatism in a Progressive Era; The Burdens of Progress; and most recently, America Transformed.

games for a summer evening: Children's Propaganda Games of the Second World War Nicholas Milton, 2024-07-31 From puzzles and cards to pinball and die games, find out about the children's games produced as propaganda during World War II. During the Second World War, hundreds of games were manufactured by the British, Germans and Americans aimed at children. Despite being cheaply made due to the wartime economy, the games were often fun to play and challenging to win. They also had considerable propaganda value helping to manipulate children into supporting the war. To get their attention, many of the games incorporated dramatic artwork and were based on real wartime events from the evacuation of children in 1939 to the dropping of the atomic bomb in 1945. This book features a large selection of different games produced by the British, Germans and Americans and tells the stories behind their wartime propaganda. The Nazis in particular prided themselves on producing games which promoted and glamourised war, exploiting children's patriotism and pride in German conquests. Some of their most insidious games included Juden Raus! (Jews Out!) and Bomber u?ber England (Bomber over England). However, the British and Americans also produced unethical games like Target for Tonight which promoted the carpet bombing of Germany and Atomic Bomb, a dexterity puzzle about the nuclear bombing of Japan. The games featured in this book include roll and move games with a board and die, pinball and similar 'shooting' games, dexterity and other puzzles and card games. They were made out of paper, card, wood, rubber, bakelite plastic and initially metal. Remarkably despite wartime restrictions games were manufactured throughout the conflict to meet the demand from boys and girls as they closely followed the changing fortunes of the war. Today many of the games have become scarce so for collectors a guide to their value and rarity is included.

games for a summer evening: Terrorist Attacks on American Soil J. Michael Martinez, 2023-06-14 Understanding the context of terrorism requires a trek through history, in this case the history of terrorist activity in the United States since the Civil War. Because the topic is large and complex, Terrorists Attacks on American Soil: From the Civil War to the Present does not claim to be an exhaustive history of terrorism or the definitive account of how and why terrorists do what they do. Instead, this book takes a representative sampling of the most horrific terrorist attacks on U.S. soil in an effort to understand the context in which they occurred and the lessons that can be learned from these events.

games for a summer evening: Kings of the Diamond Robert T. Diamond, 2008 Kings of the Diamond is based on historical events in Winnipeg in 1950, drawing on the city's great sporting heritage. The main storyline follows the 1950 season of the Northern Hotel team of the Twentieth Century Community Softball League, the powerhouse team that went on to play in the Western Canada Softball Championship that year under the direction of the story's chief protagonist & author Robert Diamond's father, Lazar Diamond. That legacy is brought to life in this story of the Diamond family and the Northern Hotel and of many of the players and principals of the Twentieth Century Community Softball League. The entire narrative builds inexorably towards the final championship game, when 8,000 people crammed the Aberdeen School Grounds to watch it. Kings of the Diamond is the story of one of the most colourful chapters in the sporting and cultural history of Winnipeg, and of the legendary characters who were the main players on this stage. It is also a story of family and friendships that survive tests of emotional strength, love, and commitment, and of how they find final vindication. From Winnipeg Mayor Sam Katz's foreword: 'Winnipeg had its share of larger than life characters in those days. [The author] aptly and authentically describes them all in this tale of Winnipeg sports and other games ... Ex-pat Robert Diamond pays homage to his hometown, offering fascinating insights into how Winnipeg earned its moniker, the Chicago of the North, and to a very special era in softball history.'

games for a summer evening: The Recollections of John Brown J. Benjiman, 2022-11-29 The Recollections of John Brown: in Short Stories and a Few Poems is the author's first release. It chronicles segments of his life written in short stories. Boyhood, Teens, Young Man, and The Poet are the four sections of the book. The Recollections take the reader on an emotional journey through the individual eyes of, first, a young boy; then a teenager; and finally, a young man growing up in America during a period that spans the decades of the 1970s, 1980s, and 1990s. The stories are quirky, humorous, serious, and enduring--drawing the reader into moments in time that not only shaped one man's life, but also defined his generation. Boy, Don't Jump starts the adventure in the first section titled Boyhood, recalling how an episode of the Adventures of Superman convinces a young boy that with the simple addition of a towel tied around his neck, he can take off from the second-floor awning and fly, but after reality kicks in, he rethinks his fantasy and is saved by his aunt who is babysitting him and his siblings. The reader will also be drawn back to their own childhood through stories like Laundry Day, Big Kickball Game, and Playing in the Rain. The section wraps up with two enduring stories: A Walk with Momma and Momma Takes Us to Six Flags. The latter of which tells the story of his mother's determination to make sure her children's summer is eventful by treating them to a trip to Six Flags over Texas, even though she really can't afford it. Teens kicks in full throttle as he recalls the release of Michael Jackson's Thriller video and the frenzy that surrounded it. The reader will rediscover the youthful vigor that followed them through their teenage years as they engulf themselves in stories titled Dirty Movies, Are You Done in There? Night Swimming, Night Riders, Skipping Out on a Ticket, and closing out with Graduation Night. Young Man is the leap from youth to adulthood. With One Show, the author embraces his dream of becoming a music star by teaming up with two talented cousins to perform in a talent showcase that would create bond and brotherhood that still stands today. Get ready to cheer and laugh as you read We Want Rain, Big Puker, Craps, Tight-End Release, and He Banked It In. Tears may well up as you are reminded about the sad and special episodes in your life that are brought to life while reading Laurie Dies and My Grandson. Finally, the section titled The Poet allows author to express himself in a series of poems highlighted by Hurricane, a poem about the challenges of dealing with a loved one trying to manage a mental disorder. In all, The Recollections of John Brown offers all who read it an opportunity to reflect not only the author's life adventures, but also on their own as well.

games for a summer evening: Footsteps Paul E. Pepe, 2002-10-23 This is a story of one branch of the Pepe family in America. Starting with its roots in Italy, the narrative tracks the family from 1800, through the years of the Risorgimento, to the hilltop village in Ferrandina in Southern Italy, then to Little Italy in New York, and finally, to the (then) bucolic suburban area of Gravesend in Brooklyn. Along the way the family intersects with a number of historical figures and events, including Guglielmo Pepe, the George Washington of Italy, Maria Barbella, the first woman ever to be sentenced to the electric chair, Calhoun Washington, who was born a slave, Heavyweight Champion Bob Fitzsimmons, General George Armstrong Custer, John Philip Sousa, General Pershing and Pancho Villa. The story is told in three parts. Part one details the history of Michele Pepe and his family, from Ferrandina to America, with stops in Little Italy and the Gravesend section of Brooklyn.
